Last thing I did was set up a veteran's task force meeting time that way we can get the ball rolling and get the job done in a reasonable and fashionable time.

VP Clubs and Organizations Alex Horning – Hey guys this week hasn't been too busy, but next week on January 17th from 1 to 3 we have Club Fair. This will give all the clubs a chance to get civic engagement hours and build bonds with students and other clubs. Also Touch-a-Truck will be on March 7th, we are thinking about potentially changing the name from Touch-a-Truck to RV there yet. This will also be a chance for clubs to get civic engagement hours and there will also be treats and refreshments provided for those who participate.

I worked on trying to make Civic Engagement hours as easy as possible for the clubs since 40 clubs didn't have enough to maintain good standing for the quarter. Civic engagement hours can be earned by clubs for turning in clothing for the winter warm-up.

VP Academic Affairs Ryan Zimmerman – Hey guys, Scholarship night is next week January 20th from 11 to 1 in SURC room 137 a and b.

SAS was this last Tuesday at 7pm in Black 151. There are a couple of seats that still need to be filled like military science and a couple others.

Textbook pilot wildcat shop is doing: E-books for some of the high demand texts, cheaper and more interactive. Students have been asking for this and have responded well. Hopefully the program expands to include most textbooks offered.

From Faculty Senate Resolution: "I also want to say that we unequivocally express our support and compassion for all of our students who may be undocumented or whose citizenship status may be ambiguous. To the extent permissible by law, we pledge to do everything we can to honor and provide a safe and educational environment, in every classroom and on all the university campuses, for all those regardless of documentation or citizenship status."

VP Equity and Community Affairs: Andrea Saavedra – To start off I just wanted to let everyone know that we had our first ESC meeting of the winter quarter last Monday. During the meeting we discussed a couple topics one of them being fund requests for AUAP night which is January 19th at 6:30 in the SURC theatre. This will be a chance to get together and celebrate friendships and say goodbye to CWU campus and community. There will also be food there so please come and have a good time.

We also talked about the U.S. Hispanic Leadership Institute that will be on February 15th-19th. This experience will be life changing for everyone and will encourage many kids to stay at Central Washington. We want everyone to feel safe and to embrace their identity as Latinos and Latinas.

I had a meeting with Emily Happy from foundation to discuss a possible grant for P.U.S.H. Lastly, I want to promote the winter warm up that is happening till the 18th. You can bring any type of clothing items that would benefit in someone else being warm like a sweatshirt or a beanie, anything works. There are 3 locations, the SURC, D&M coffee shop that is located downtown, and the James Brooks Library.

VP Student Life and Facilities: Forrest McNeally – This week was a whirlwind for me with my classes, finally started my third class and spent most my week playing catch up on material and homework.

I am still working on selling the general as it has become a financial burden and my budget is not sustainable to keep it going. The board is backing me on this and I will keep everyone up to date.

VP Legislative Affairs: JR Siperly – Office of Legislative Affairs is full steam ahead for Lobby Day. We finished CWU Students Legislative Priorities after many edits. Our chances of proposal passing are very high. Representative Stambaugh (R) is one of our main sponsors for permanently de-coupling S&A fees from Tuition. This will be a milestone for the ASCWU and the OLA if passed.

Following our Legislative Priorities is Lobby Day, which is on February 2nd. OLA is signing people up until January 26th.

In the end of my report the OLA is working together with WSA on planning the Students Color Conference that is on April 1st.

President: Armando Ortiz - Hello everyone, sorry I was late, I had some car trouble and had to walk to school today.

I am working with Paula & Andre to hire an elections coordinator and I will hopefully have the job posted by next week. So if you want to help run the process for the new student government board then look out for that job. I am still trying to set up meeting with President Gaudino because in this position he is my mentor so I will hopefully meet with him soon in the next week or so.

I attended the MLK Remembrance celebration and it was great with the two choirs we had come in and perform. As well as the student performers and speakers we had. It was really inspiring to see where we have to now go in this new wave of revolution we have going on.
