To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Central Washington University, Central Access Center. The staff are phenomenal to work with. They have produced high quality Braille text with tactile graphics and other electronic text since 2019. They've also provided training to staff who work with our students who are blind and visually impaired. Our students have found their services to be of very high quality. Further, they work with us to find we can lower costs yet continue to provide high quality materials that meet our students' needs.

Several of my staff, including myself, also attended their week long training program which enhanced our knowledge regarding the production of Braille plus the development of documents that can be used with a Braille reading devices. They are expert and their product is of highest quality.

I highly recommend them to assist with your Braille and document accessibility needs.
