Please provide an overview of the student centered programming provided, i.e. type of programs, milestones, number of students impacted, and how they benefited. Outdoor Pursuits & Rentals (OPR) offers a variety of opportunities for outdoor related recreation activities to the campus community. Opportunities for student involvement include outdoor rental gear, scheduled guided trips, outdoor focused events and nationally recognized industry training/certifications to the campus community. Students are offered a wide array of equipment to rent for their own adventures, or they can choose to join one of the scheduled trips. Additionally, the OPR Rental Shop offers discounted lift tickets and advice on places to recreate in the area surrounding our community. OPR continues to grow and develop in each area of its operations. During the fiscal year, OPR increased the amount and quality of rental gear provided for the students and executed 88 student attended trips/events up from 35 in 2014. OPR continues to provide Wilderness First Aid, Wilderness First Responder, Raft Guide Training and Swiftwater Rescue. Raft Guide Training was overhauled this year to increase the number of training hours and opportunities from 16 hours to 43 hours. This increase allowed student leaders to learn new hard skills and soft skills as well as practice these skills to increase their proficiency. As young adults who are in managing rafts and people in moving water, it is important for them to have the skills needed to be successful in this environment. OPR serves the entire student population and every trip/event continues to facilitate outdoor education and personal growth for each student and staff participant. OPR is committed to providing the students of Central Washington University with opportunities for student growth, involvement and leadership. We look forward to what the future brings.
