LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

What can I do with this major?

AREAS

EMPLOYERS

STRATEGIES

EDUCATION

Higher Education:

Teaching

Research

Student Affairs Administration Including:

International Student Services

Study Abroad

Multicultural Programming

Student Support Services

Information/Library Science

Primary and Secondary Education

Language Services

Private Tutoring

Interpreting

Translating

Community Education:

Literacy

English as a Second Language

GED Preparation

Universities and colleges International schools

Overseas dependent schools

Third party study abroad providers

Campus cultural centers

 $Support\ programs,\ e.g.\ Educational\ Advancement$

Program, Upward Bound

School and community libraries

K-12 schools, public and private

Federal government agencies

Head Start programs

Nonprofit organizations including those promoting literacy, e.g. VISTA

Adult education programs, e.g. those focusing on GED preparation

Libraries (for Latino Studies, museums, etc.)

Earn a Ph.D. in order to teach and research at fouryear institutions. The interdisciplinary nature of Latin American Studies makes it good preparation for advanced education in a variety of fields.

Obtain a master's degree in student affairs or library/information science to prepare for those fields.

If interested in K-12 teaching, fulfill requirements for certification. This may involve a double major or a minor. Research alternative paths to certification such as Teach for America and other similar programs.

Research certification options for teaching English (TESOL, CELTA, TEFL)

Get involved in leadership roles on campus such as peer mentor, resident advisor, or orientation leader.

Join related professional associations as a student member.

Interact with students from Latin America. Participate in international programming on campus.

Plan to study, work, or volunteer in Latin American countries.

Develop strong communication and public speaking skills, particularly in Spanish or Portuguese.

Volunteer with community organizations that serve the Latino population. For example, tutor nonnative English speakers.

Secure strong recommendations from faculty, and maintain a high grade point average.

Assist a professor with research or take an independent study class to develop research skills.

ADVOCACY/NONPROFIT

Domestic and International Advocacy

Humanitarian Services

Development:

Economic

Community

Housing

Disaster/Disease Relief

HIV/AIDS Advocacy

Policy Development

Policy Analysis

Program Administration

Education

Volunteer Coordination

Grant Writing

Program Management and Development

Fundraising/Development

Research

Community Education & Outreach

Public Relations and Marketing

EMPLOYERS

Community action agencies

Labor unions

Nonprofit organizations, e.g Amigos de las Americas, Centro Hispano

Social service agencies

Private voluntary organizations

Private foundations, e.g. The Boston Foundation,

Lumina Foundation

Faith based organizations (FBO's) and churches, e.g. Catholic Relief Services

Hospitals, medical centers and clinics (especially those in areas of high Latino population)

International aid and relief organizations

Non-governmental Organizations (NGO's), e.g.

International Red Cross

Federal government agencies with an international focus (e.g. Peace Corps, USAID, etc.) or a focus on community assistance (e.g. Americorps)

State and local government agencies

Special interest groups

Cultural heritage organizations

Research organizations, e.g. Pew Hispanic Center

STRATEGIES

Volunteer at local social service agencies that work with Latino communities to gain experience, demonstrate interest, and build contacts in the field.

Participate in an international service learning experience or church-led mission trip to Latin America.

Learn to speak Spanish or Portuguese, focusing on relevant technical vocabulary for your chosen field.

Pursue scholarship opportunities to study relevant languages, teach English, or conduct research abroad (e.g. Fulbright).

Get involved with cultural and international events or organizations on campus.

Take additional courses in social work, global studies, or other relevant areas.

Develop excellent research, writing, communication, and organizational skills, particularly in Spanish or Portuguese.

Learn how to motivate individuals and groups.

Plan to move to geographic regions where the Latino population is growing.

Learn how to write grants and gain an understanding of budgeting and fiscal management.

Investigate term of service or service corps positions as a way to gain entry into the field.

Research organizations' values to find a good fit with yours.

Consider earning a graduate degree for more job opportunities and advancement.

HUMAN SERVICES

Healthcare Advocacy

Counseling

Psychotherapy

Mental Health Services

Case Management

Social Work

Vocational/Career Counseling

Programming

Mental health institutions
Hospitals and clinics
Residential treatment facilities
Private and group practice
Correctional institutions
Federal, state, or local government, including:
Department of Human Services

Supplement curriculum with courses in psychology, social work, or child and family studies.

Obtain a graduate degree in psychology, counseling, or social work for increased counseling opportunities or advancement into administrative work.

Obtain a graduate degree in public health for increased opportunities in areas of healthcare access and advocacy.

EMPLOYERS

STRATEGIES

HUMAN SERVICES CONTINUED

Community Relations Fundraising/Development Administration Organizations that aid immigrants, migrant workers, and refugees or focus on cultural issues

Youth organizations and camps including: YMCA's, Boys and Girls Clubs

Nonprofit and social services organizations including: United Way, Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army, etc.

Faith-based programs

Gain essential practical experience through parttime or summer jobs and internships.

Volunteer with organizations that assist people of diverse backgrounds, particularly the Latino population.

Participate in training opportunities, e.g. suicide prevention or crisis hotline response.

Gain a firm understanding of various Latino cultures and how culture impacts individuals and families.

Become bilingual in Spanish or Portuguese in order to better assist some clients, emphasizing acquisition of relevant technical vocabulary.

Acquire knowledge of government and community resources available for those in need.

Research state licensure requirement in fields such as counseling, social work, and psychology.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

International Business International Development Importing/Exporting

Logistics

Banking and Finance

Management

Customer Service

Sales

Marketing

Advertising

Public Relations

Labor Relations

Training and Development

Human Resources

Equity and Diversity Functions

Travel and Tourism

Real Estate Consulting

Agricultural Economics

Public and private corporations in various industries including:

Banks and financial institutions

Insurance companies

Retail stores

Hotels and restaurants

Consumer goods manufacturers

Businesses targeting Latinos

Staffing agencies

Consulting firms

Market research firms specializing in Latinos

Public relations agencies

Latin American firms operating in the U.S.

U.S. firms with operations in Latin America International real estate, marketing, or trade firms

Hispanic chambers of commerce

Minority business development centers

Latino trade associations, e.g. Latin Business

Association

Travel agencies and tour operators

Double major or minor in Business or Language & World Business (MFLL).

Gain business experience through internships or part-time and summer jobs.

Through research, identify corporations that have a reputation for reaching out to Latino populations.

Become bilingual in Spanish or Portuguese, emphasizing acquisition of relevant technical vocabulary.

Gain leadership experience through campus organizations or professional societies.

Understand the skills employers desire and be prepared to demonstrate them, such as communication (oral and written), computer, interpersonal, leadership, and teamwork.

Conduct informational interviews with professionals to learn more about career fields.

When job searching, seek employers interested in hiring "any major."

S | | EMPLOYERS

STRATEGIES

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY CONTINUED

Convention and visitors' bureaus
Organizations for research on and advancement of Latino's in business, e.g., Stanford Latino Entre preneurship Initiative (SLEI)

Learn how to sell your Latin American Studies major to companies that value cultural diversity.

For international assignments, plan to start in U.S. based positions and gain experience with the company/industry. Usually more seasoned employees are given international assignments.

Earn an MBA or a graduate degree in another area of interest such as accounting or finance for more advanced opportunities.

LAW AND POLITICS

Law:

Corporate Practice Public Interest Law

Civil Law

International

Immigration Law

Lobbying

Government Relations

Elected or Appointed Leadership

Public Policy

Research

Intelligence

Campaign Management

Special Interest Advocacy

Program Administration

Immigration Services

Law firms

Corporate legal departments

Public defenders offices

District attorneys

Public interest groups, e.g. The Center for Justice and International Law

Civil rights organizations, e.g. National Council of LaRaza

Legal aid

Sole practitioner

Government agencies, e.g. Department of State (foreign service)

Lobbying groups

Obtain a law degree (J.D.) for law positions or an advanced degree in public administration, public policy, or international relations for government positions.

Supplement curriculum with relevant courses to prepare for law school (research and writing skills).

Participate in activities that develop strong debate and public speaking skills such as mock trials.

Run for office in student government or work on a political campaign.

Get involved with the pre-law society on campus.

Gain relevant experience through jobs or internships with law firms, government agencies, or mediation centers.

Maintain a high grade point average and secure strong faculty recommendations.

Prepare for and take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT).

Study abroad in a Latin American country. Learn Spanish or Portuguese, specifically the relevant technical vocabulary.

MEDIA AND THE ARTS

Journalism Creative Writing Freelance Writing

Copy Writing

Editing

Research and Analysis

Broadcasting:

Television

Radio

Media Sales

Museum Work

Arts Programming

Art Sales

Fundraising/Development

EMPLOYERS

Newspapers

Magazines, e.g. Hispanic, Latina

Broadcast media companies including the television and movie industry

Radio stations

Foreign news agencies

Trade, professional, or consumer publications

Internet sites marketed toward Latinos

Advertising agencies

Publishing houses

Large corporations

Freelance

Museums

Galleries

Organizations and centers dedicated to promoting Hispanic visual and performing arts, e.g. Latino Arts Inc., National Association of Latino Arts and Culture

Smithsonian Latino Center

STRATEGIES

Pair an interest in Latin American Studies with communication skills and/or language skills to write about Latinos, write on topics of interest to minorities, or for publications targeting a Latino audience.

Study a second field such as journalism, English, or broadcasting to prepare for a career in media.

For positions in the arts, consider a minor in art history or music history. Plan to pursue a relevant graduate degree such as Museum Studies.

Write for campus publications such as college newspapers, magazines, or department/program newsletters. Work at campus radio or television stations.

Intern with a publishing house, magazine, radio or television station depending upon area of interest

Create a portfolio of writing samples, especially those that have been published. For other areas, create a website or digital portfolio to promote skills to potential employers.

Seek opportunities for recognition and networking through writing contests and freelance writing submissions.

Become familiar with the proposal and submission process involved in freelance writing.

When job searching, research media outlets to find those that target Latinos.

Volunteer in local museums or galleries.

Travel to Latin American countries and visit local museums and cultural attractions.

Learn to speak Spanish or Portuguese and develop relevant writing and communication skills in the language. (Latin American Studies, Page 6)

GENERAL INFORMATION

- Latin American Studies provides an interdisciplinary background that helps students develop analytical, critical thinking, and writing skills while gaining knowledge about the cultures, histories, and languages of Mexico, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean, as well as Latinos in the United States.
- When paired with a major in another field, Latin American Studies can enhance the employability of a student because of a deeper understanding of the Latino experience which many organizations will value. Training in this field can lead to a better appreciation of certain customers or clients.
- Some students may choose to pursue Latin American Studies because they enjoy the subject but wish to pursue careers requiring "any major." In this scenario, it is critical to develop skills relevant to targeted field through internships, part-time or summer jobs, or volunteer experiences.
- Latin American Studies majors are excellent candidates for a number of graduate school options because of their broad liberal arts background as well as specific interests that may set them apart from other students. For those wishing to pursue graduate education, maintain a high GPA, establish relationships with faculty to secure strong recommendations, and gain experience through volunteer, work, or research opportunities.
- Travel as much as possible to Latin America to experience it first-hand. Complete at least one study abroad experience. In the U.S., look for ways to interact with people from Latin America who are living in or visiting the States.
- More job opportunities may exist in parts of the United States where the Latino population is the largest (e.g. Florida, Texas, California, New York, Chicago) or growing (e.g. Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee).
- Read and stay abreast of politics and current events in regions of interest.