What does CAMP do?

The College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) at Central Washington University provides supportive and retention services to college students from migrant and seasonal farmworking families. CAMP works with campus faculty, student services and community-based agencies to improve educational opportunities for CAMP students.

Is CAMP for me?

If you are entering Central Washington University and have a migrant or seasonal farmworking background, were identified as a migrant student in your school district, or participated in the WIA 167 program, CAMP is for you. As a retention service, we are concerned with helping you stay in school. We will help you explore your academic and career choices and make sure that you have the information you need to make the decisions which will shape your future.

CAMP is funded 100 percent by the Department of Education, Office of Migrant Education.

LETTER FROM EMPLOYER

Take this "Verification of Farmworker Employment Status" form to the employer and ask them to complete the form.

Dear Employer,

The following student, _____, has applied to the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) at Central Washington University. In order to be eligible for the program, the student must be a migrant/seasonal farmworker (or the dependent of a migrant/seasonal farmworker). The student has indicated that the person listed below has been/was employed by you as a farmworker within the last two years. The purpose of this form is for you to verify his/her employment.

After completing this form, please return it to the student or employee.

For the purpose of the program, the farm work may include any activity directly related to the production of crops (i.e., picking, pruning, harvesting or machine operation), dairy products, poultry or livestock; the cultivation and harvesting of trees; or any activity directly related to fish farms. This farm work includes work performed for either wages or personal subsistence on a farm, ranch or similar establishment on a seasonal basis.
