Attached are the three waiver programs approved at the last waiver council meeting that would go into effect for FY 16.

Early Childhood learning is informational only as the funding comes from student fees.

Math Honors Program was strongly supported by the council and this approval will allow it to be advertised at the President’s Scholars dinner on April 11 to high achieving students and parents attending. FY 16 awards would cost $10k.

WA State Math Competition awards were also strongly supported by the council. After many years the state competition has returned to CWU with 600 top math students in WA. We will offer 19, $1000 awards to the winners and we hope a few will become CWU students this fall. Our estimate is that this will showcase CWU and our STEM programs at very low cost depending on how many accept—estimates are 3 or so. This may be a one-time award cycle depending on if the program continues to be held at CWU.
