

Goals – Anthropology Department, College of the Sciences, Central Washington University

Anthropology Goals	College of the Sciences Goals	University Goals
1. Provide opportunities for students to develop an holistic understanding of human issues through the theories and methods of cultural, linguistic, archaeological and biological anthropology	1. Provide for an outstanding academic and student experience in the College of the Sciences	1. Maintain and strengthen an outstanding academic and student life on the Ellensburg campus
2. Foster student learning in small-scale and individualized settings with respect for different points of view	2. Provide for an outstanding academic and student life in college programs and courses at the university centers	2. Provide for an outstanding academic and student life at the university centers
3. Provide opportunities for student-faculty interaction in research, field work, and teaching assistant experience.	3. Provide for outstanding graduate programs that meet focused regional needs and achieve academic excellence	3. Strengthen and further diversity our funding base and strengthen infrastructure to support academic and student programs.
4. Build interdisciplinary relationships that express the multidisciplinary scope of anthropology	4. Develop a diversified funding base to support curriculum and academic facilities, student and faculty research and scholarships, as well as faculty development, service and applied research in college disciplines.	4. Build mutually beneficial partnerships with the public sector, industry, professional groups, institutions, and the communities surrounding our campuses.
5. Engage in research and scholarly activities and share results with peers, students and the public	5. Build partnerships that support academic program quality and student experiences in the college of the sciences, including those with private, professional, academic, government and community-based organizations.	5. Achieve regional and national prominence for the university.
6. Offer public services that link research and teaching with the needs and interests of local, state and regional communities.	6. Strengthen the college's contributions to the field of education.	6. Build inclusive and diverse campus communities that promote intellectual inquiry and encourage civility, mutual respect, and cooperation.
7. Raise awareness of ethical conduct in cross-cultural and intercultural interactions for program, campus and community	7. Create and sustain productive, civil, and pleasant learning environments.
8. Recruit and retain highly qualified faculty to maintain and develop program currency, stability and effectiveness in all four sub-fields
9. Students will demonstrate knowledge, skills and values relevant to student learning outcomes.

Goals – Anthropology Department, College of the Sciences, Central Washington University

--