

RELS 103:

Every culture has its myths, and every myth tells us a lot about the people who promote it—how they understand the world and their place in it; what they fear and hope for. In this course, we turn our gaze to some of the world's most significant myths, past and present. By reading them, we begin to better understand humans and the diverse ways we process our world.