

Central Washington University
Faculty Fellow for Excellence in Teaching & Learning
Application for Academic Year 2022-23

Multimodal Learning (ML) is currently accepting applications for the AY 2022-23 Faculty Fellow for Excellence in Teaching & Learning. This position is for 9 workload units and the primary duties include collaborating with deans and department chairs to enhance and support college goals for faculty excellence in teaching and learning; serving as an advocate for excellence in teaching and learning; promoting pedagogy, advancing institutional diversity and equity goals to meet student need; engaging faculty members with expertise in pedagogy and leadership in providing peer-led activities to promote the scholarship of teaching and learning; in collaboration with the Director of the General Education (GE) Program, promoting best practices in teaching GE courses; and presenting on various topics specific to pedagogy and curriculum development to be delivered through faculty training workshops, faculty forums, faculty institute and ML website. (Specific workload assignment is dependent upon discussions with the department chair and dean.)

Eligibility:

Tenure-Track and Tenured faculty members are welcome to apply for this fellowship position. Please contact Joy Fuqua, Executive Director of Interactive Instruction and Innovative Delivery (Joy.Fuqua@cwu.edu), with any questions.

Process:

Email a complete application package to your department chair no later than May 6, 2022. The chair will forward the complete application package, with their written recommendation, via email to the appropriate dean no later than May 13, 2022. The dean will email the complete application package with their recommendation to the Office of the Provost no later than May 20, 2022. The Faculty Fellow for Excellence Committee will review the applications, via Microsoft Teams, and present a list of acceptable applications to the Provost. The Provost will review the applications and committee recommendations to make the final selection.

Application:

A complete application will consist of:

- 1) General information section (attached).
- 2) A letter or interest/personal statement outlining prior experience relating to the position's areas of focus and responsibilities (attach separately).
- 3) Endorsements (to be completed by the chair and the dean).
- 4) A complete professional CV listing appropriate research, scholarly or artistic achievements, and activities (attach separately).
- 5) Letters of support from faculty members and/or other appropriate individuals not necessarily associated with the institution (attach separately).
