

Course Prefix and Number		Soc 366 - Sociology of American Indians
Learner Outcomes		Assessment
Student will be able to demonstrate knowledge of the political, family, religious, and educational institutions in their original American Indian forms.		Student will demonstrate their knowledge in an exam.
Student will be able to identify the effect of acculturation and assimilation on American Indian social institutions.		Students will demonstrate their knowledge in an exam.
Students will recognize the similarities and differences between American Indian society and Dominant society.		Students will demonstrate their recognition in writing a paper.
Students will identify the social conditions and issues confronting American Indians.		Students will take an exam in which they identify social conditions and their social influences.
Students will use American Indian experiences to examine their own culture and life experience.		Students will develop a project relating their own experience to the American Indian experience.
Students will identify, examine, and analyze the implication of social policies on the American Indian experience including extermination, removal, and self-determination.		Students will write a paper in which they identify, examine, and analyze social policies and their impact on American Indian society.	