

Course Prefix & Number SOC 327 – Sociology of Health

LEARNER OUTCOMES	ASSESSMENT
Describe and apply the sociological perspective to health, illness, and medicine	Students will take written in class exams, demonstrating recognition of and ability to discuss concepts, theories, and complexing nature of health care services
Discuss the influence of class, gender, race, and culture on social arrangements related to health, illness, and medicine	Students will complete written assignments to demonstrate their knowledge of the influence of social factors on health, illness, and healthcare
Compare and contrast major health care systems that are present in industrial societies	Students will discuss in class the strength and weakness of different types of health care systems in the world
Discuss the impact of health care programs and policies on clients, practitioners, and the health care system	Students will complete class presentaions or written assignments that discuss social programs and policy that affect health care delivery services