

Course Prefix & Number SOC 352 – Punishment and Corrections

LEARNER OUTCOMES	ASSESSMENT
Students will identify socio-historical and theoretical influences in the determination of punishment and the creation of corrections.	Students will take an exam and correctly identify the socio-historical and theoretical influences in the determination of punishment and the creation of corrections.
Students will identify the interdependency of all aspects of the criminal justice system.	Students will take an exam and correctly identify the interdependency of all aspects of the criminal justice system.
Students will critically assess the punishment and corrections system in the United States.	Students will give a presentation in which they critically analyze the punishment and corrections system in the United States.