

Course Prefix & Number SOC 388 – Women in Management

LEARNER OUTCOMES	ASSESSMENT
Students will identify a variety of gender issues that affect work behaviors in today's organizations.	Students will take an exam where they will identify a variety of gender issues that affect work behaviors in today's organizations.
Student will assess the theoretical perspectives of men's and women's experiences in the workplace.	Students will write a paper that assesses men's and women's experiences in the workplace using a variety of theoretical perspectives.
Students will identify a variety of stereotypes that affect our perceptions of men and women at work.	Students will take an exam and identify a variety of stereotypes that affect our perceptions of men and women at work.
Students will critically assess current topics in women in management.	Students will make a presentation on a variety of current issues that impact women in management.