Lynn Brewer

“From Einstein to Enron— Innovation to Corruption”

November 9, 2004
Columbia Tower Club, Seattle, WA
7:30 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

Lynn Brewer is a former Enron executive and author of Confessions of an Enron Executive: A Whistleblower's Story, a riveting account of her career at Enron and her decision to blow the whistle.

In her nearly three years at Enron, she was responsible for Risk Management in Energy Operations, the e-Commerce initiatives for Enron's water subsidiary, and Competitive Intelligence for Enron Broadband Services. During her tenure she witnessed numerous instances of illegal and corrupt dealings, including bank fraud, espionage, power price manipulation and the gross overstatements to the press, public and financial world.

Since leaving Enron, Lynn has become an internationally recognized speaker, providing compelling details into Enron's rise and fall, leaving audiences enthralled with her intriguing stories.

On November 9, 2004, the College of Business will host a Business-to-Business Breakfast featuring Lynn Brewer's ethics presentation: "From Einstein to Enron—Innovation to Corruption."
