Post Spring Quarter - June 12 - 26, 2010

Deadline - February 12, 2010

Program Description

This program offers a unique opportunity for students to gain experience in many aspects of physical education and health instruction including planning units and lessons, teaching, utilizing instruments to assess learning, measuring teaching goals, and participating in peer coaching.

Students will be exposed to a new culture and diversity working with local youth in a summer program. This will prepare them to teach in diverse settings, satisfy core requirements, and provide an understanding of actual student abilities in a real world setting. Students will solve problems that physical education and health instructors face every day. Program excursions include activities such as local hikes, swimming, and other cultural activities around the island.
