- (1) Among the possible advantages of centers/institutes to Central Washington University are the following:
- A. Centers/institutes increase intellectual excitement on campus.
 - B. Centers/institutes enable students to work closely with faculty and staff on research projects or on other projects of educational value.
 - C. Centers/institutes generally bring external funding to the university in the forms of fees, contracts, and grants.
 - D. Centers/institutes stimulate faculty to become more involved in their professions, in research, and in writing proposals for external funding.
 - E. Centers/institutes enhance CWU's service to both internal and external constituencies, most particularly residents of central Washington, the state, and the nation.
