CREATING AN EXAM REVIEW GUIDE

One of the most effective ways to create study guides unique to the class you are taking is to use your previous exams from the class to create a study guide for the next exam.

1. Review exam
   Write down which chapter each exam question relates to.

2. Organize exam questions by chapter
   Identify the concepts that you were being tested on for each question.

3. Create review notes for questions you answered incorrectly
   Create your notes as if you were teaching someone else the concept.

4. Create flashcards
   Try to write different types of flashcards based on the question:
   - Definitions
   - Equations/Formuals
   - Concepts

   Use a flashcard app to build digital flashcards: Anki, Brainscape, Quizlet, or Chegg Prep are all good apps.

5. Test yourself
   Use all of the tools you have created to test yourself, anticipating what questions might be on the exam.
