Overcoming Grief Through Music

Thank You’s

- First I would like to thank my parents, who have only missed a small handful of all the concerts I have been in. Their constant love and support for the things I love to do are the best gift anyone could give.
- Dr. Weidenaar for being one of the best choir directors I have ever had. His amazing ability to articulate what he wants, his extensive knowledge, patience, and comradeship are all appreciated. Thank you for encouraging and inspiring me to conduct at a higher level.
- Vijay Singh, my jazz director for MANY years. His constant push to compose/arrange, his help with building my jazz chops, and his always kind words in lessons, and after gigs. THANKS!
- To CWU Chamber choir and those of you who have joined for this project. Your hours of work and study of the music and ALL music we did this year puts us a cut above the rest. Will miss you all dearly.
- To Brandi Brown and Vanessa Moss for their guidance and help with bowings and all things strings!
- Isaac and Jennifer Norberg. My brother and sister-in-law. Your love and support are much appreciated. Of all the people in the world, you two are BY FAR the ones I love making music with the most. Here’s to more musical memories.
- To the vocal and instrumental private teachers here at CWU – without you, we wouldn’t be making music at such a high level in such a short amount of time!
- Kirk Marcy and Laurie Capello-Marcy. The first to really build my confidence to get out there and DO IT. The opportunities to teach, both in Soundsation and then at Cascade High School were un-replaceable. THANK YOU!
- Sheri Erickson, my first choir teacher. You are the first to encourage me to be a music major. I can only hope to be as amazing as you someday!
- Dr. Gries, the most brilliant man EVER!
- Dr. Shiver, for whipping this department into shape and immediately showing us how much you care and how much you want us to succeed. Thank you for your thoughtfulness.
- The friendly and helpful music office staff!
- René Clausen, for such an amazing piece of music.
- YOU, the audience for most of you are friends and colleagues. I can’t wait to see all of you out there teaching along-side me.
- Matt Woodard for being the most amazing tech/electronic/recording/lights/video guru EVAAAAARRRRRR!
- And last but not least, Michelle Flock, for keeping me sane this last quarter, and quite frankly this whole two years. Your friendship means a lot to me, and I am so happy to have shared an office with you!
