Summary:

Discussion items this academic year included:

1. NCAA Mandated Sexual Assault Training for student athletes, coaches and administration was developed. This included a Title IX Education Plan that was approved by the committee and will be signed by the Director of Athletics, the Title IX Coordinator, and the President.
2. One stop shop web pages for student athletes were developed this year, which include information on wellness, nutrition, mental health, etc. The page is located on the Athletics webpage under "Inside Athletics."
3. The committee received regular updates on the North Campus Projects: Recreation Expansion, Tomlinson Upgrade and New Hall.
4. A Coaches Compliance Manual was developed this year.
5. The committee received a briefing from Katie Boswell, Director of the Learning Commons, on the Academic Resource Center (ARC) and the current funding of 100 level classes. A position paper on remedial course funding was forwarded to the Provost for review and consideration.
6. Marissa Howat, Director Wellness Health Promotion, gave the committee a briefing on the results of a mental health survey that was conducted by 1500 CWU students. CWU is participating in a JED cohort with other universities. JED is an initiative of The Jed Foundation designed to guide schools through a collaborative process of comprehensive systems, program and policy development with customized support to build upon existing student mental health, substance abuse and suicide prevention efforts.

Goals for the committee for the upcoming 2018-2019 academic year include:

- Getting an updated Missed Class Policy in place
- Mental Health
- Discussing issue trends
